SUMMER 1991 DOR NEWSLETTER

By now all of you who ordered DOR jewelry should have received your order. I do not plan on having another order made up in the near future, so anyone still wanting a pin should order now. Left in inventory are eleven (11) Large Sterling Silver Lapel Pins with the bar pin back safety catch at $14.70 each; and three (3) Small Sterling Lapel Pin/Tie Tacs with straight nail clutch at $10.80 each. Prices include shipping. All orders will be filled for these remaining pins on a "first-come, first-serve" basis. Thanks to all of you who wrote to express your pleasure with these handcrafted ancestral keepsakes. Because of the small quantity needed, we were lucky to find someone who would fashion these items for us at a reasonable cost. A local jewelry manufacturer told me they would not do this order for three times the price.

Many, many happy returns to DOR member Charles J. Tyrrell and his bride, Nancy J. Roth, on the occasion of their wedding on 26 May 1991 in Missoula, Montana! We wish them every happiness.

Usually reading a city, county or state history is very heavy going. Kind of like trying to eat a sawdust sandwich. There is one city history, however, that I stumbled upon at the library that makes rather fascinating reading as it tells its story. And it should be of special interest to those of you who descend from THOMAS². I think you'll enjoy As We Were - The Story of Old Elizabethtown, by Theodore Thayer, published for the New Jersey Historical Society by The Grassmann Publishing Company, Inc., Elizabeth, NJ, 1964. It certainly clarifies why early records in New Jersey are so scarce and many times confusing when found.

For those of you who have forgotten, or neglected, to pay your dues, there will be a "1991" in red on your mailing label as a reminder. Dues for membership and subscription are $10 yearly, January to January.

Again, thanks to everyone who shared information and remember if you don't see your contribution in this issue, it will be in a later one. Thoughts of Wallace Stevens in his "The Irish Cliffs of Moher" on his ancestral origins:

*"Who is my father in this world, in this house,
 At the spirit's base?*

My father's father, his father's father, his--- Shadows like winds..."

SUSQUEHANNA CO., PA. CONNECTIONS

DOR member G. Richard Handrick wrote at some length regarding the Turrell family in Susquehanna, PA. Following are some of his thoughts:

"There is no doubt that this Isaac Turril (as published in the Fall 1990 DOR newsletter regarding Revolutionary War pension records) is the same as Isaac⁶ Terrill given in Abbott, Early Milford, p. 743, son of Samuel⁵ (Samuel^{4,3}, John², Roger¹). Isaac⁶ settled in Lawsville/Liberty Township in 1818 and is brother to Anna Terrill who married Peleg Baldwin.

"Both Anna and Peleg Baldwin are buried in Stone Street Cemetery, a private family cemetery on the old, dirt road running from near Birchardville north to Friendsville, PA. In 1872 the whole of Stone Street was in Stone Street District No. 6 of Forest Lake Township, Susquehanna Co., PA, although prior to 1858 it was part of Middletown Township.

"Turrell/Terrill families have been in Susquehanna Co., PA since 1810, coming from Litchfield Co., CT, for the most part, as far as I have been able to determine. One prominent family is represented by Leman⁶ Turrell (James Jr⁵, Capt. James⁴, Daniel^{3,2}, Roger¹), who settled in Forest Lake Township in 1810 in an area called Leman's Corners. Wife of Leman⁶ was his cousin Lucy⁶ Terrill (Abel⁵, Daniel⁴⁻², Roger¹), of Kent, Litchfield Co., CT. Lucy's sister, Polly Terrill/Turrell was my (GRH) gr-gr-gr-grandmother.

"Blackman (History of Susquehanna Co., PA 1873) records a Turrell family in Montrose, PA, headed by William Turrell. He came from CT in 1816 with his wife and two children. 'He lived a short time in the Benedict house, then removed to Auburn [township] for a year....He then came and settled here permanently.' In 1818 he advertised in the local newspaper as saddle and harness maker. 'His eldest son, William J., represented the district in the State Senate from 1862-'65, and was elected speaker.'

"Another Turrell family settled in Lawsville Township (erected in 1798 and renamed Liberty Township in 1836 after Franklin Township had been formed from its southern half). David O. Turrell came in 1820 to settle in Lawsville, but later moved to western Liberty. He was b. c1799 (age 81 in 1880 Federal census), d. Franklin Twp; m Ann Webster (b c1803) age 77 in 1880 Federal census). Their eldest son was Daniel b. c1821-1825 and the census of 1850 for Liberty Twp. shows other children as Mary 25F, Samuel 20M, Laura 18F, Webster 15M and Dimock 11M. I have not found the ancestry of David O. from any of my genealogical books although there may be a connection between Isaac⁶ and David O.

"A Turrell family, for which I have no ancestry, was in Jessup Township of Susquehanna Co., PA by 1810. Blackman wrote that William C. Turrell lived on a farm at a location called 'Turrell's Flats', where he had come some time prior to 1810. In 1811 he became a Lt. Col. in the 129th Regiment Pennsylvania militia. 'About 30 years ago [i.e. c1843] he went West, and died there some time afterwards.' William C. had a brother David Turrell, whose farm was close to William's. David also went West, and died in Michigan in 1849, aged 66. They had another brother, christian name of Doctor, who lived on Dutch Hill, 'where William Robertson now lives' (1873)."

Although definite proof is as yet lacking, it would seem that David O. is indeed the son of Isaac⁶ or his brother David⁶. The William C. Turrell of Turrell's Flats escapes identification at present. Can anyone shed light on this family?

ABEL⁷ TURRILL

Clipping from Montrose, Susquehanna County, PA newspaper 7 March 1891:

The death of Abel Turrell, one of our oldest citizens, occurred at his residence early on Saturday morning. Deceased was born in what is now Forest Lake, October 16, 1812. He was married October 19, 1843, to Adelia Catlin, of Bridgewater, who survives him. His parents, Leman and Lucy Turrell, came from Litchfield Co., Conn. in 1810. From 1839 to 1846 he was editor of a newspaper in this place - first the Montrose Volunteer and afterwards the Democrat, by a change of name. From April 1848 to May 1875, he was successfully and continuously engaged in the drug business in Montrose, retiring with a competence. He was one of the organizers of the First National Bank, and a director several years. An only son, Edgar A. Turrell, Esq., a practicing attorney in New York City, was summoned home on Friday, arriving here in the evening. The funeral will be attended at the family residence at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, Rev. A.L. Benton conducting the services.

TERRILL'S IN GENESEE COUNTRY-NY

The following was found by member Lynn Sandell in Northfield on the Genesee, 1981, MacNab, Thompson and Husted regarding the movements of brothers David⁵ and Josiah⁵ (George, Jr.⁴, George³, Daniel², Roger¹) Terrill originally of Newtown, CT:

In the bitter winter of 1807, three Turrel (or Terrill) men slogged into Northfield from the Marcellus settlement in Onondaga County, looking for homesites.

Joseph Shepard sold half of a 46 acre tract on the southwest edge of Pittsford [located in Monroe County, NY just south of Rochester] to Josiah Terrill February 8, 1807, and on the next day he sold the other half to David. Alexander Chubb, Silas Nye and Seth Turrill witnessed both deeds. A year later, David bought out Josiah's share to add to his property. In 1812, Seth followed David to the Genesee Country.

It would appear that David and his wife, Louisa, were older than Seth and Lydia. By 1820, David's family included a man between 18 to 26, a boy between ten and 16, and a boy and a girl under ten, while David and Louisa were both over 45, Seth and Lydia had not reached the age of 45 and had two boys and a girl under ten.

Within less than a year after Seth bought land from David, he sold it to George Parker (1813) although he continued to live in the community. David and Louisa disposed of their holdings to Nicholas West and Jonathan Woodman in 1823. A Mrs. Terrill joined the Pittsford Congregational Church in 1815. The Ontario Republican of September 3, 1811 reported that "David Terrell died in Farmington, age 21, a good mechanic."

"THE JERSEYS" MYSTERY SOLVED

Several Connecticut reference works including the histories of Old Fairfield and Wilton show the following:

Nathaniel Terrill "from the Jerseys"...

This reference to "the Jerseys" has been the subject of some speculation. Did this mean Nathaniel was from New Jersey, the English isle of Jersey or some other spot? The answer to this question has been uncovered by a study of the history of New Jersey.

In the spring of 1664 an English expedition was sent to our shores to capture the Dutch New Netherland. When the expedition arrived, a demand for surrender was made to the Dutch Governor Stuyvesant. After a few days of negotiations the Dutch capitulated.

Just before this conquest, King Charles II granted to his brother James, the Duke of York and Albany, all the lands from the west bank of the Connecticut River to the eastern shores of the Delaware plus Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard and a large part of Maine. Thus New Amsterdam became New York and the area that was to be New Jersey was named Albania after the new owner.

On 4 June 1664, the duke granted two trusted friends, Lord John Berkeley and Sir George Carteret, a substantial portion of his propriety including Albania which became New Jersey. It was named for the birthplace of Sir George, the isle of Jersey in the English Channel. New Jersey embraced all the territory east of the Delaware and south of a line connecting 41° 41' on the Delaware with 41°N on the Hudson.

In March 1674, Lord John Berkeley sold his share of New Jersey to two Quakers, Edward Byllynge (Billing) and John Fenwick, and in 1676 Sir George Carteret agreed to a partition of the province that left him the territory east of a diagonal line extending from the upper Delaware to Little Egg Harbor. Thus East and West New Jersey were created and they were not reunited until 1702.

A map by John Thornton published in London c. 1700 entitled "A New Map of East and West New Jersey" clearly outlines this demarcation with Burlington County on the West Jersey side of the line and Middlesex and Monmouth County abutting the dividing line for East Jersey.

Undoubtedly, due to this twenty-eight year division, even after the East and West were united under the crown as a colony in 1702, they continued to be referred to as "the Jerseys." A map of the Province of New York ordered by British Maj. General William Tryon and published in London in 1779 by Claude Joseph Sauthier, clearly shows the area below Orange county New York as "THE JERSEYS."

Regardless of how the British referred to this land, in 1776 the colonists adopted a constitution and on 17 July of the year the style "State of New Jersey" was adopted. However, East and West Jersey retained a sense of division in some areas along the line well into the nineteenth century.

JOHN² TURRELL FREEMAN 1669

At the General Assembly held at Hartford, Connecticut 14 October 1669, among those names presented for freeman is John Turrell of Milford. (Public Records of the Colony of Connecticut from 1665 to 1678, transcribed and edited in accordance with a Resolution of the General Assembly, Trumbull, 1852.)

Donald Lines Jacobus in his "The Terrill Family of Connecticut" (TAG Vol. 25, p. 37-8) shows a John², son of Roger¹, baptized at Milford August 1644, died there between 9 Jan 1719/20 and 13 Feb 1722/3 (Milford Deeds, 6:83, 302) a carpenter.

Since John² was baptized into the church in 1644, his admittance as freeman probably rested upon his acquiring property. In 1669 there were 1,789 free-men out of an adult male population of about 3,000 in Connecticut according to David M. Roth's bicentennial history of Connecticut.

HOLY COW !!!!

Member Jane Coven shares this article found in the Lorain County, Ohio Elyria Republican newspaper of 16 May 1878:

Mr. Jay Terrell of Lake Breeze has a cow which gives 406 lbs. of milk weekly of so rich a quality as to allow 16½ lbs. of butter to be churned therefrom. This is a "butter" story, but nevertheless a fact.

Steve Terrill credits his son for the photograph that catapulted his work into public view. Terrill's first major assignment as a professional photographer was to camp at the base of Mount St. Helens. If then-seven-year-old Steve Jr. had not wanted to move camp, Terrill's tripod would have been standing near ill-fated Spirit Lake during the May 18, 1980 eruption. Instead, Terrill's photograph from Yale Lake was splashed on posters across the nation, and was even framed and hung in the White House.

Terrill's photographs have now been brought together in a book entitled: Oregon: Images of the Landscape. For more information, contact: Westcliffe Publishers, P.O. Box 1261, Englewood, CO 80150, (303) 935-0900.

PHOTO NEWS

DOR member, and wildlife photographer, Wardene Roush Weisser sent the article on Steve Terrill Photography as it appeared in the February 1991 issue of Outdoor Photographer.

She also shared the news that the May/June 1991 issue of International Wildlife magazine features the hummingbird photography of Robert A. Tyrrell with stunning cover picture, and vivid two-page spread photo and two full-page photos on the inside. The article was written by his wife, Esther Quesada Tyrrell and describes some of their adventures while searching for their hummingbird "jewels" throughout the United States, Mexico and in the jungles of the Caribbean.

With the help of DOR member Roger Porter Terrill, Wardene is close to proving her descent in this country, although it may not be from Roger¹ but from William¹ and Rebecca (Simkins) of Massachusetts. Perhaps some day we'll be able to link several of the early Terrill families in England and will keep this in mind as we search for origins there.

SAMUEL² TERRILL

Donald Lines Jacobus in his "The Terrill Family of Connecticut," TAG Vol. 25, p. 37, states that Samuel² (Roger¹) was "bapt. 31 Oct 1647. He settled in Brookhaven, L. I., and raised a family there."

This is the Samuel² who appears in the New York Calendar of Council Minutes in 1686 and on the lists of inhabitants of Colonial New York. The Calendar of Council Minutes on 7 July 1686 state: "Samuel Dayton, Samuel Tyrrell, Jonathan Rose and Walter Jones appear before the council about the petition of the Indian, Tachanick." The minutes for 6 Sept 1686 state further: "Richard Cornell, John Jackson, and Daniel Whitehead to view the land called Unkechalk where Samuel Dayton, Samuel Tyrrell, Jonathan Rose, and Walter Jones live."

The valuation of ratable estates belonging to Brookhaven, L. I. in 1683 show Samuel Tyrell, Samuel Dayton, Walter Jones and Jonathan Rose, so it may be assumed that the land in question was near Brookhaven, L. I. It would appear as though the Indian Tachanick was in a dispute over the land that Samuel² Tyrrell and his friends lived on and this disputed land would be viewed by others and the matter settled. [NT has ordered copies of the landpapers and petition and will share the contents when located.]

QUERIES

NOTE: Although you should forward answers to queries to the person placing the query, Nancy Tyrrel Theodore, DOR Research Coordinator, asks that you share new and pertinent research information with her as the central control depository. Thank you.

Mr. Sharp, Almira who m. a Mr. Mix, a Harriet b. 5 Apr. 1812 and Ira C. or were there others? Curtis Terrill and Elijah Terrill were the sons of Nathan⁵ Terrill b. 1736 and Dorothy Phelps, who d. c. 1834-5 in Knox Co., OH.

Response to query 31) from member Jane Davies Coven:

"In your last DOR letter there was a query about the parents of Roxy McNeal Terrell. There are buried in Fields Cemetery, an Alexander McNeal who died (illegible) 1838, 64y 11m 15d and Chloe, his wife, who died May 13, 1846. (There is a question mark in the cemetery book after this date. I'll have to check the stones next time I am there.) Also in the plot are buried Ozro who died Feb 16, 1859, 45y 7 m and Lasira L., dau. Truman & Mary, d. July 7, 1851, 8 y 8 m 21d. When I went to the County Administration Bldg. the other day I went up to the Probate office to see if Alexander had a will on file. He did not. I didn't think to look for one for Ozro or Truman to see if there was a mention of a sister. I suspect it is the same family, but to date no proof."
